Enhancing CBD Production Through Decentralized Finance, AI and Drone Technology

GREENHEARTCBDTOKEN.COM

Project Summary

This document outlines the mechanics of Greenheart CBD, a sustainable decentralized lending platform, run on blockchain technology

Currently farmers in many countries have low incomes and exist on a subsistence basis, with little chance of improving their families living conditions

The aim of the project is to provide financing to farmers around the world to grow CBD, substantially increasing their incomes and improving their quality of life for themselves and their families

This expansion of CBD farming will be led by Greenheart CBD, increasing the company's revenues while successfully expanding to multiple countries worldwide

The Project White Paper explains the process of a typical farmer borrowing money from the Greenheart CBD platform, explaining how the production and drone technology process is incorporated, the key platform functionality and its interaction with the network

The Greenheart CBD platform will provide project and community led loans to farmers around the world that wish to switch to CBD cultivation and production. It will take the form of a DeFi lending exchange, applying advanced smart contracts on a number of blockchain networks, to enable borrowing and funding between users and community participants

The platform allows finance to be provided to borrowers, specifically with the aim of providing funding to farmers, cutting edge Artificial Intelligence Drone technology and organic production processes, in any country worldwide that wishes to cultivate CBD, within the current and future parameters of the law

The platform can also be expanded to include non CBD related projects, allowing for longer term diversification into other Environmental, Sustainable & Governance (ESG) related areas and will include sustainable initiatives
